About the Founder

The Founder of the Wounded Warriors in Action (WWIA) is a 24-year career veteran who served in the US Army from 1983 to 2007. LTC (Ret) John J. McDaniel established the WWIA in support of our OIF / OEF wounded warriors. His vision is to create an entire network of outdoor sporting enthusiasts across America. There is no greater healing potential than connecting with nature and pursuing great achievements both afield and on the water. LTC (Ret) McDaniel is an avid sportsman and US Army Airborne Ranger with a Special Operations background. Ultimately, the WWIA aims to create regional centers of excellence across the United States; outdoor sporting centers which are run by our Wounded Warriors. These centers will serve as wildlife conservation models and everlasting retreats for our Nation's heroes.

Together, with your support, we will build a foundation that stands the test of time and serves as a constant reminder of our commitment to the Wounded Warrior healing process and repaying a debt to our Nation's finest.

our MISSION

The WWIA provides world-class outdoor sporting opportunities to our Nation's wounded veterans in order to assist their healing process, welcome them home and repay a debt of gratitude for the great sacrifices they have made.
